

Peer Comparison Information

Public technical colleges, such as HTC, often serve a wide range of students. As the call for accountability in higher education has increased, institutions seek ways to distinguish and articulate their particular benefits and accomplishments. One such way is in benchmarking with similar institutions in the state and region. In general, our comparison group is medium in size, public, 2-year suburban locale in the Midwest. Mindful that for-profit colleges also serve our area, we have included those in the area that offer similar programming. As a member of Council on Quality Improvement Network (CQIN) some of our peer institutions are also CQIN members. Hennepin Technical College has selected an official list of 17 peer institutions to use for comparative purposes and appropriate benchmarking efforts. Unless noted, the institutions are public.
